Borodin' s "Dreammovie"

Art-Nr.: 58856 / GTIN: neu

Effect:

A lady is instructed to remember the most beautiful day in her life as if it was a movie. Under the directive patter of the performer she stops the movie in her mind and gives the last picture a title, which in turn is written down by her. The piece of paper is folded and the performer puts it into an ashtray. During the following patter the paper mysteriously catches fire by itself without the mentalist being close!

The performer draws the attention of the audience to a sealed envelope, which has been in full view right from the beginning. This is torn open and another spectator removes a piece of paper from it. This is unfolded and read out by the spectator himself. Believe it or not, on the paper is written the same movie-title the lady only thought of!
