The magician starts his show with a 2 1/4" round button pinned on his lapel, freely showing it to everyone. The button might have a logo on it, his picture, or anything else. A card is then selected and placed face-down in a spectator's hand. When the spectator turns this card over, they find that actually printed on the face of the card is the logo or picture from the magician's button! When they look up at the button again, it is now printed with a picture of their freely selected card!

Everything may be completely examined and the button pinned to the magician is in full view the entire time!

Comes with reusable gimmicked button and detailed instructions.
