Birth sign by John Anders

Effect: You show twelve cards with birthsigns on it. You let the spectator remove his/her birthsign. You are several feet away when the choice is made! Let him/her add six other cards and mix them, so that no one knows which symbol is where. "I would like to test your intuition" You take the packet from the spectator and without looking at it, add it to the remainder of the cards. Quickly you separate the cards in two face down piles holding them so you can't see any faces. You ask the spectator to concentrate and to indicate which packet he thinks might contain his birthsign. Turning your head to one side, so you can't see any of the signs, you show him/her the faces of the cards in the selected packet. You ask if the spectator was right or wrong. Putting the packets of cards together again, you test his intuition twice more again by using the same process. Each time you show the spectator the signs so you cannot see any of the signs. And the end of this process you sum up his hits and misses of this intuitiontest. Now you ask the spectator to mentally concentrate upon his
