The performer places his business card wallet on the table, explaining that inside is a single business card containing a prediction. He then proceeds to take his deck of cards and deals a card face up onto the table one at a time. He explains that the spectator may call out the word "stop" at any time.

The spectator can see that all the cards are indeed different as they are all being dealt face up. Suddenly, the spectator calls out "Stop!" Let us suppose that the card stopped at was the 8 of Clubs. The performer slowly opens the wallet with the prediction inside. A business card will now be seen inside. Partially removing it, the performer asks the spectator to take it and confirm that it matches the card they stopped at. INDEED IT IS!

Not only will you find out just what the acronym "S.N.A.K.E.S." stands for, you'll also receive one of the most deceptive business card wallets in the world and Wayne's well thought-out routine for this mind miracle!
