The story revolves around a small town astronomer (a card is selected, say the King of Spades, from a blue deck to represent the astronomer), who spots an alien space ship (really a manila envelope with a picture of a spaceship on the front), which lands on the outskirts of town.

The spaceship door opens, and the aliens emerge.

You show four cards with beautiful colorful pictures of aliens on both sides.

One of the aliens is removed and heads to town (the deck) to investigate.

The astronomer has set out to spy on the aliens.

When he sneezes, they grab him (the blue backed King of Spades is added to the remaining three alien cards), and using some unknown alien technology, the aliens change their appearance and you show four blue backed Kings of Spades!

The astronomer escapes, the alien who went to town returns, and the cards change back into four green aliens!

The aliens climb back in their ship and blast off and the Earth is saved!

A clever, timely story.

Beautifully made cards, includes envelope with the picture of the alien spaceship.

No complicated sleights, easy to do and visually stunning.
