EFFECT: A deck of cards is placed on the table. A spectator is asked to cut the deck into 2 piles. The assistant is asked to pick up the bottom half of the deck, turning them face up in dealing position, and deal some cards into a pile on the table. They are then asked to pick up this pile, holding them face down in their hands. The top and bottom cards of the handheld stack are discarded....so that no remembered cards or key cards are thought to be used. They are asked to look at the new top card, commit it to memory, and replace that card, by itself onto the original top half of the deck, and bury it with the remaining cards. The deck can be squared by the spectator. For the first time, the name of the selected card is announced, the deck is spread, a frantic search ensues, the selection
