

Jackpot Monte Jumbo

Art-Nr.: _18508_ / GTIN: neu / Marke: Korem, Danny

15,00EUR

inkl. 19% USt. zzgl. Versand

🚫 Nur noch ein Exemplar vorhanden!

JACKPOT MONTE

INTRODUCTION: This effect was an outgrowth of a packet trick developed by Eugene Castillon. I changed the handling so it could be performed with jumbo cards on stage and also added the patter bits that "sell" the effect. For the scholars, jackpot Monte was directly inspired by Pete Birch's adoption of Mark Fuzess' "Mexican Monte" to the Partial Ascario Spread (Roger Smith's KB Move). This routine was designed so that the double-faced card would not be dealt on the table (as in the versions of Big and Fuzess) but would become one of the sandwich cards seen throughout the effect.

JACKPOT MONTE

INTRODUCTION: This effect was an outgrowth of a packet trick developed by Eugene Castillion. I changed the handling so it could be performed with jumbo cards on stage and also added the patter bits that “sell” the effect. For the scholars Jackpot Monte was directly inspired by Pete Biro’s adaption of Karl Fulves “Mexican Monte” to the Partial Ascanio Spread (Roger Smith’s KS Move). This routine was designed so that the double-faced card would not be dealt on the table (as in the versions of Biro and Fulves) but would become one of the sandwich cards seen throughout the effect.