The Magician has a spectator help him shuffle the deck, and make sure that ththe deck is well shuffled. Then the magician cuts the deck into four stacks, and infront of the four stacks are four cards laying on the table face down with a question mark face up. From this the magician predicts that he will make each stack mysteriously have the top card match what the face down suit is...then after that he takes it a step further and make the entire stack that suit, leaving the spectators wondering!!
