A card is chosen (Six of Diamonds). The Four of Diamonds is also used. You cleanly place the Six of Diamonds in the spectator's closed hands, making any deceit physically impossible.

Drawing attention back to the Four of Diamonds still in your hand, you slowly and methodically shake the card. Suddenly, the diamonds on the Four are seen to visually multiply and move across the card to form the Six of Diamonds. The spectator opens their hands to find the Four of Diamonds.

Everything is then handed out for complete inspection and examination.

Wayne Houchin guides you through each phase and nuance of this incredibly visual transposition, teaching his original version utilizing the classic Moving Pips card (available in two colors) - as well as Michael Ammar's Visually Yours, the routine that started it all.
