MENE-TEKEL DECK

When pack is riffled, two cards fall as one. This is because one card is a short card. When performing, riffle cards slowly, requesting spectator to insert his finger any place in the pack. When this is done, and while the finger is still in position, place all the cards above finger to the bottom of the deck. The two cards under the spectator's finger are the same, so that when you remove the top card, show it, then bury it anywhere in the pack, a duplicate of this card still remains on top.

Explain that you will magically bring the selected card back to the top of the pack. Now when the duplicate card, which is on top, is turned over it appears to be the same card.

To repeat the trick, replace card from middle of pack on top of the pack.
